

November News

We are gearing up for the holiday season quickly, here are a few dates to keep in mind in the next few weeks. We would appreciate your feedback on Thanksgiving week as soon as possible.

Weather

It seems most important to review the weather policy for our school! We follow Littleton Public Schools for school closures, not their delays. If Littleton Public Schools are closed, we are closed. We also show up on the closures and cancellations list of the local news stations if we are closed. Please be safe getting your little ones to school!

Original Works Fundraiser

I received orders from most of you, if you are still interested in including your child's picture, the orders are going out on Friday. Let me know if you still want to order. The items will be back on December 1.

Lil Angels Photography

The pictures were darling (with our group of children, how could they not be!), but I understand that the prices were high. I apologize for that. We try to give the business to local companies, but they can't seem to compete with the larger groups. I have given that feedback to the photographer, and we will try again in the spring with a company that has more reasonable prices. Don't feel obligated to purchase, but I am giving the picture proofs back tomorrow if you want to order. Pictures ordered will be returned in two weeks.

Conferences

Conferences are scheduled for next week. We have allotted 15-minute time slots for conferences between 4-7pm on Wednesday, November 9, or by appointment with your teacher. We are flexible with other times we can meet, so please ask if you would like to talk with us. We will be distributing a summary of our assessment on Monday or Tuesday for you to review before your conference.

Welcome

We have a few new families that have joined our preschool this month. Please join me in welcoming them to Holy Trinity and help me make them feel comfortable by saying hello!

Thanksgiving Break

At the beginning of the school year, we were following Littleton Public School's calendar for holiday closures, however we understand our working parents don't always follow a school calendar for days off, so we would like to know if you need or would like care during the week of Thanksgiving. We will remain closed Thursday and Friday of that week in observance of the holiday. In order to provide care, we would need to have at least four children in attendance. Please tear off the form below or email your responses back to me and let us know what you think. The prices would be the same as our daily rate and in addition to the monthly tuition ($26, $35, $40, $45) We will let you know our schedule soon!
